FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL SYSTEMS IN THE FACE OF COVID-19: PERSPECTIVES FOR RESILIENT
DEVELOPMENT IN THE MEDITERRANEAN REGION "CISAM-COV19 "

October the 24th and 25th, 2022 Algiers

CISAM-COV2022/19

The international hybrid conference on food and agrarian systems in the face of COVID-19: prospects for resilient development in the Mediterranean region is being organised jointly with the "VALCORE" laboratory for the valorisation and conservation of biological resources of the M'hamed Bougara University in Boumerdes and the Algerian National Institute of Agronomic Research (INRAA) in Elharrach. This conference aims to take stock of the situation of the agricultural and agri-food sectors, based on information relayed by a network of experts and researchers in a variety of countries in the Mediterranean region. In the face of the covid health crisis, food and agricultural systems are facing major challenges such as dependence on external markets for several commodities (cereals, soya, red meat, seed oil...). This conference puts into perspective possible solutions that allow for a certain resilience of food and agricultural systems, while preserving the environment, biodiversity and natural resources. Sustainable food systems are essential to ensure food security and healthy eating for current and future generations. The objective of this conference is to promote the exchange and meeting of different stakeholders in the field of agriculture, food security and sustainable development and contribute to the creation of an active synergy between the university, laboratories and the socio-economic sector at national and mediterranean level.
